STATEMENT

Litigation is expensive, time-consuming, and incredibly stressful for the participants. It also requires the parties to place their fate in the hands of a judge or jury who, after a decision is reached, has no stake in the outcome. Mediation avoids these risks and uncertainties by offering the parties an opportunity to maintain control over the outcome of their case, resolve their dispute in a way that provides the most benefit to them, and provides more flexibility in crafting feasible and realistic solutions to sometimes complicated or cumbersome problems. But the key to a successful mediation is not just parties'

As a mediator, Mr. Friedlander draws from his more than 20 years of experience negotiating, litigating, and mediating real estate matters to help parties resolve their disputes.
