

MEDIATOR PROFILE – ROGER A. MOSS, ESQ.

EDUCATION

Undergraduate School: UC Berkeley
Law School: UC Hastings College of the Law

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Roger has been resolving conflict in real estate and business since 1986. He has mediated countless landlord-tenant disputes and other controversies associated with large-scale real estate projects. Roger has also closed more than 1,500 deals nationally, as a broker, retailer and leasing executive. Expertise in site selection, portfolio leasing, asset management and lease administration informs his approach to mediation, offering a unique perspective on the real estate industry, individual transactions, as well as the role of emotion in business conflict.

STATEMENT

Protracted conflict injures people, damages business and ruins relationships. Real estate transactions should be collaborations, not competitions. They should create value for multiple stakeholders. When disputes arise, I offer parties an authentic voice in the process. I help them focus on common interests. My experience helps me see value hidden in calamity. I am a negotiator who drives mediated conversations in ways that surface solutions and obtain positive results for all sides.
